Makgadigadi: Day 1 to Day 3

Makgadigadi and Nxai offer a different desert experience, a landscape formed on endless salt pans, Bushman grass and Acacia Trees. The horizon is filled with endless antelope like Springbok, Gemsbuck (Oryx) and Red Hartebeest who frequent the area. The Nxai Pans are home to the famous Baines Baobabs who had their beauty exposed by Thomas Baines who originally painted them in 1862.

The annual migration of the Wildebeest and Zebra in the area, similar to the great migrations in Kenya and Tanzania but on a smaller scale, takes place during the wetter seasons on the year around February and March depending on the annual rainfall. Some the predators, such as lion, cheetah and leopard follow the heard waiting for their opportunities to catch the offspring for an easy meal. An under appreciated landscape that allows for an everlasting memory and experience

Kwai Conservancy: Day 4 to Day 6

From streaming rivers, to sun-kissed horizons and luscious green shrubs, the Delta has many opportunities to create everlasting memories with special viewings. Although rhino were extinct in the Okavango, both black and white rhino have been reintroduced in the reserve with sightings on the rare occasion. All the other Big Five are easily spotted – even the hardest to find, the leopard – are quite relaxed here. Wild dog sightings (a once in a lifetime experience) are some of the best in Africa.

The mokoro excursion is a highly popular activity for Moremi and Khwai among guests who travel to Botswana. It is an opportunity to completely experience the sounds and sights of nature without running the risk of frightening off animals with a motor and is therefore a highly recommended expedition for photographers. Guides that command the mokoro are highly knowledgeable about the natural environment making these trips safe and enjoyable.

Savuti: Day 7 to Day 9

Savuti is known for the wonderland of waterways and the tree climbing lions. Savuti is a place of enchantment and boasts one of the greatest concentrations of animals in Southern Africa. With its almost desert-like landscape, loose, hot sand, and elephants lining up to get to the water supply, offer a wildlife experience you won't easily forget.

Guests are permitted to get out and manoeuvre the little way up the rocky hills to view the artworks, found on the South-east cliffs overlooking the Savuti channel. Guests can also marvel at the historic baobabs in the area and look out for the seldom seen klipspringer antelope. Overlooking the arid river channel of Savuti, which today is only flooded by the high water of the Zambezi when flooding, you will find these excellent paintings on the walls of an "abri", a typical spot to stay for the hunter/gatherers. The paintings, although not carbon dated, are estimated not be between 3000 to 4000 years old

Chobe National Park: Day 10 to Day 12

When you visit the Chobe National Park, you will never forget the first glimpse of the dazzling, deep blue Chobe River, as it winds its way through sandy terrain, dense forests of cathedral mopane trees, and endless broadleaf woodlands kissing the Chobe River. The park is named after this majestic river that protects 10.700 km² of the northern Kalahari desert, providing ensuing wilderness and a game density that is steadily remarkable. Chobe, being famed for its massive elephant populations, big heads of buffalo, elephant hunting lions and incredible bird life imprint an everlasting memory of what nature should be. Where else can you find, undisturbed predator populations, beautiful landscapes and tranquil waterfronts?

What better way to witness the largest natural roaming population of wild elephants than on a river cruise enjoying a cold beverage under the beautiful African sun. Other wonderful sightings include the likes of The lion, leopard, buffalo and a whole host of antelope like sable, the seldom seen puku, kudu, eland, roan and many others. The river is filled with big pods of hippos and some of the biggest crocodiles in Africa.
